

Return to work assessment / Training package

As a considerate company who values and invests in new and existing employees, you will be looking to keep on people who have returned to work after a long illness.

ILP can offer you a package which will ensure you meet the need of your employee and maintain valuable expertise and knowledge.

The package consists of the following;

- Occupational therapy assessment / goal setting and training programme, for individual employee, colleagues and management.
- Equipment assessment and provision where required.
- Coaching / mentoring support

ILP will visit your company and the employee in their place of work, discuss aims for the company and individual. A plan will be provided which everyone agrees to, with actions required to meet all the aims.

Where particular equipment is required i.e Computer programmes, seating, visual aids - ILP can identify and locate these items for you, provide quotes and arrange delivery. Training in use of such equipment can take place in the workplace for all who require an understanding of them.

Benefits;

You as a company will maintain existing expertise and knowledge, or acquire the right skills, expertise and knowledge, whilst providing an appropriate working environment.

You will reduce lost time and help your employees participate to the best of their ability and therefore relieve pressure on other members of staff.
